

191st AHC Member Bio / Release Statement

Special Note: The 191st AHC experience offers an interesting and colorful story. Organic to virtually none of the units it supported - - its combat employment is ironically likened to the life of a “BORROWED MULE”; Bill Janes, October, 2003. Not only does the American public deserve to know the ‘Vietnam life & times’ of 191st pilots, crews, and support personnel - - the story offers ‘lessons learned’ to current applications of war. Without question, those who died gallantly serving this great unit deserve to have their story told, and herein lies obligation among all of us who lived - - to help tell their story. With your help I pledge my sincerest best effort to create a manuscript that you - - your children - - and grandchildren will appreciate. Please submit the following:

List “Excerpts” of memorable experiences - - good - - bad - - happy - - sad - - difficult - - frustrating - - anything that made your juices flow up or down. This portion of your bio will play a major part in developing the story of the 191. A successful manuscript entertains readers - - typically with the same type of information that stimulates your interest. So please don’t skimp on this part - - tell it like you feel it - - try not to get bogged down with dates, times, and places (if you remember them fine - - otherwise move on with the story). Include “people” experiences, if you wish, (good or bad) - - all real stories have them. Timing is important - - please try to get this to me as soon as possible - - but after you send your initial information - - feel free to add excerpts later as recall continues to unravel.
